

Rev. A. W. Ilds and J. D. Stephens left Friday by auto for Clay Center, Kansas, to attend the Baptist convention going on there this week.

Billie Steward was over from Hugoton the first of the week visiting his family and looking after business matters.

Judging from the high price of hen fruit, one is inclined to believe that they are using eggs for cannon balls over in Yurup.

What is more delicious or appetizing than the smell of a good, sweet fried ham.

You need solid food to build up your strength; you need a keen appetite to enjoy such food.

The FLAVOR of the extra fine hams we have in our store would make a sick man hungry.

Buy one and try one.

Eureka Items

This neighborhood has had a light frost.

Mrs. C. E. Morehouse called on Mrs. C. H. Morehouse and Mrs. W. A. King Tuesday afternoon.

School commenced Monday with an enrollment of 20 scholars. Miss Besie King is teacher.

Mrs. Ireland called on Mrs. W. A. King Wednesday.

Bingley Campbell worked for C. H. Morehouse last week.

We had a sample of fall weather last week, windy and cool.

Mr. and Mrs. Lubbers are still visiting in Nebraska at this time.

Quite a few around here have wheat that is large enough to pasture their cattle.

A number of farmers in this neighborhood have not threshed yet. There will be quite a little broom corn to thresh.

How lonely it is when the leaves fall and the trees turn bare; but after a long winter the birds, flowers and leaves will come again.

Mrs. S. A. Capps of Liberal visited her son, Vance Capps, and daughter, Mrs. W. A. King a few days last week.

There was a good attendance at Sunday school last Sunday.

Oliver Bookless and family, who have been visiting in Kay county, returned home last week.

The farmers of this vicinity are busy cutting feed and drying wheat. In many places the wheat is up and appears to be in excellent condition.

The Kansas Hen

Through all the ages the hen has been the symptom of progress and civilization. History tells us that she cackled her sympathy to the mighty Alexander as he wept for the more worlds to conquer; that she crossed the Alps with Caesar and his victorious cohorts. We know that she landed on Plymouth Rock with the Pilgrim Fathers three hundred years ago. We know that she ever accompanied the hardy pioneer on his westward march, daily furnishing him with the choicest morsel on Nature's menu. With him she settled on the plains of Sunny-Kansas, keeping the wolf of want from the door through scourges of hot winds and grasshoppers. And when her allotted time had come, her body gave him strength to turn the pathless prairies into fields of golden grain, while at night he pillowed his tired head upon her feathers. Today her myriad sons and daughters form one of the greatest industries of a great state, adding to the wealth of her citizenship more than thirty millions of dollars a year.

It seems fitting, then, that a day should be set apart and designated as "Kansas Hen Day," that the attention of our people may be called to the importance and magnitude of the poultry industry, and to ways and means in which it may be still further improved. The Kansas State Poultry Federation, an organization whose sole aim is to make Kansas the greatest poultry state in the Union, asks that Saturday, October 30, 1915, be so designated and that on that day local poultry clubs be formed in every city, town, and village where they do not already exist. To this end volunteers are called for, men and women in every community who are willing to assist in this important work, in the interest of "better poultry and more of it." The undersigned will be glad to furnish a model constitution for local poultry clubs, and to render every possible assistance in making "Kansas Hen Day" a success in each community. Address, Ralph Searle, Chairman, "Hen Day Committee," Kansas State Poultry Federation, Topeka, Kansas.

Caddying on the Farm

Maybe you think it's lots of fun To lug around this load Of rakes and hoes and spades and forks I'll bet I jest explode. For pa has got the golfing bug, He's simply gone plumb mad A-makin' me tote all these tools En callin' me his "cad." En ev'ry time he hoes a patch He stops and hollers "Fore!" En then I hand him out a tool— It makes me good an' sore. A "bunker's" what he calls a row, A hoe he's named a "brass," En when he digs he says he "putts" En cusses at the grass. I wish them summer boarders had All stayed away from here, An' not made pa a struttin' dude So folks would laugh and jeer. It makes me feel an awful chump To lug around a flag, An' rakes an' hoes an' spades an' forks A-stickin' in a bag.

Making Good

Did you ever stop to think that "Making Good" in any endeavor is merely a matter of following the right trail and sticking to it? When we first entered the lumber business it was with the sole idea of satisfying our trade in Quality, Service and Price, and the reason we are "Making Good" today is because we have stuck to that idea, through thick and thin, in the face of all obstacles and severe competition.

If you are willing to be convinced that we can best serve you, not alone with right prices, but with the strongest combination that can possibly appeal to your intelligence—High Quality and Right Prices—come and see us next time you need Lumber or Building Material, and see how we "Make Good".
